Notice to Correspondents.

We respectfully ask that our correspondents will forward to the Express Messengers, from all points where there may be a desire, letters giving important news intended for publication.

We make this request with the view of obtaining promptly such correspondence as frequently falls to us through the mail until it has grown old and stale.

The Stay Law.

One of the most important acts which the present Legislature will be called upon to perform in the present session will be a stay law. Every day we hear of urgent demands for it, and evidences of its absolute necessity. In the present condition of affairs in our State, with trade blocked up and business dull, it is impossible to meet demands exacted at more prosperous times, and the stay law has put off to the last period.

Four months ago, when the Southern trade had kept up, and when a part, though not all part, of the money due to citizens of Kentucky could be had, the Legislature passed this law. If it was necessary, it is now in a tenfold degree. The first act makes the second absolutely indispensable, and how the Legislature failed to pass it in their last session, seems to us incomprehensible.

A little trade was still going on; except in what is necessary to military affairs, it is at a stand still. What money there is, is in the hands of the banks, or in the hands of those who occupation does not throw it into the channels of trade. Property is at a price which does not deserve the name of value. A gro, worth from a thousand to fifteen hundred dollars, was sold the other day at sheriff's sale for four hundred dollars. Six months ago, when the first stay law was passed, he would have brought at least double that sum.

The result has been to rob the debtor of our hundred dollars. This is only one instance in a thousand. It may be asserted that the delay to the creditor is nearly as injurious as the loss to the debtor, but this fallacious. No man pushes another now, if he does not push himself, or if he does not little sympathy. Very few men pay money. The bulk of wealth in the system consists in claims which one pushes all the time. The farmer, the mechanic, will have claims good enough to be paid, but if an immediate payment is demanded, they have nothing but the ability to be sold at an immense loss.

All occupations have the same evil exists. To carry out the law to execution at present is to establish speculators, who may have wealth to the utter destruction of those who have not. A wealthy speculator might buy in the property of distressed citizens at a merely nominal price, and realize immense fortunes by the destruction of more valuable citizens.

Again, a portion of the State is in the hands of the rebellion. What is to prevent a disloyal citizen from bringing his action in the loyal portion of the State, for the express purpose of distressing the loyal citizens for the promotion of the rebellion?

It is no answer to say, that, if the creditor is disloyal, his action might by law be stopped, when we know that his disloyalty must be proved. Neither would it be fair to deprive citizens in the infected districts of their action, because that would be to add another calamity to their present misfortunes.

It is not time now to argue that the first stay law was improper. It has had its legitimate effects in lowering the price of property, putting off the collection of debts to a time when the evil bears heaviest, and then turning it loose. Justice now to all parties demands that the stay law should be continued. It certainly produces evil, but these are light and trivial with what will arise by its non-continuance. The most of the evil which a stay law might effect has been done; the good which it will effect is yet to come.

A VALUABLE TREASURE.—A tree has been discovered in the gold regions about Ballarat and other dreary districts of Australia, called by local pundits eucalyptus oleosa, the transfer of which to England would be merely a botanic curiosity, but not so its recent planting in the waste and arid districts of the Sahara by the Algerian authorities. It thrives in the most dry-arid localities, and the thirsty wanderer has but to make an incision in the trunk above the roots to elicit a copious draught of refreshing liquor, while the upper boughs and leaves are convertible into gas, and used for that purpose at the antipodes. A fountain at foot and a lamp aloft, it is a boon to the wilderness—the right thing in the right place.

A WIFE'S INFIDELITY REVEALED BY A TIME PIECE.—A wealthy and amiable gentleman of Hinsdale, Mass., who has been lately married, returning home hastily one night not long since, found, upon retiring, a strange gold watch and chain under his pillow, which proved to be the property of a dashing young man who had been quite an intimate friend of the gentleman's wife. The husband sold out and returned to his former home at the West, leaving the gay young man and disgraced wife to enjoy themselves as best they could at Hinsdale.

SHIPS FOR GOVERNMENT.—The ship Geo. Washington, 1,554 tons, rating A 1, and the Great Republic, put down on the record as 3,566 tons, with the same rating, have been chartered by the Government for the use of the Butler expedition, and are due in New York with all possible dispatch. The Great Republic, even since she was cut down a deck, is an immense ship—it is to carry 600 men, 500 horses, and 1,000 tons of coal.

Gen. Tighman's word of command to his soldiers, after the retreat of the five thousand, was "left—left—left."

When Lane says he feels like a sand hawk he hope he feels the fire around him.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY: THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 13, 1862.

NUMBER 176.

REBEL OPERATIONS IN CHICAGO.
[From the London Post, Jan. 26.]
ONE OF THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERATE
LITHOGRAPHED IN CHICAGO—ANOTHER:
RECEIVED AND SENT TO PORT LAFAYETTE.

The coronation of the Gipsy Queen, Esther Faa Blythe, took place recently at Yetholm, England. There were two candidates in the field for the vacant honor, and it was decided to settle the matter by election; but on the day fixed for that purpose no opposition appeared, and Esther was forthwith chosen Queen, and the coronation ceremony duly performed. The royal proclamation which she had issued had the effect of calling together a goodly number of the tribe:

"On this interesting occasion Esther was selected by the princes and princesses of the royal blood—her brother, Prince Charles, and nephew of the same name and title; and two of the princesses acted as equerries to her Majesty, some of her Majesty's grandchildren also being present. The coronation was performed in the presence of the Queen, who, in the ceremony of coronation was to be performed by the Crowner and Crowner following behind.

The procession having halted, the Crowner stepped forward and placed the coronet upon her head, a Scotch thistle being a very prominent ornament upon it. The Crowner, from a roll of parchment, proclaimed that, having crowned her deceased father, King Charles, and from his inherent right of Crowner, and from the fact of the late King dying intestate, he had placed the crown upon the head of Esther, and with proper ceremonies.

The Queen, in a short and pathospeach, thanked her subjects for the high honor they had conferred upon her in choosing her to occupy the throne of her ancestors, and expressing the hope that she might be worthy of the trust.

Henry A. Wise was said to be on Roanoke Island, and is probably taken. We hope he will be furnished with the prime necessity of life to him—pen, ink and paper.

A Secessionist says the rebel General must have been out of his mind to neglect Fort Henry. This is quite a mistake; it was only some of his men that were slightly.

Floyd has been ordered from Bowling Green with a separate command. If he doesn't steal a march on our troops, it will be his first failure in thievry.

The rebels cannot be brought to understand that the Union armies have gained victories. Doubtless their leaders will soon "get the hang of it."

The rebels say they do not fear the men of the Union; but seem to have had a wholesome fear of her Foote at Fort Henry.

Polk and Pillow had some dispute about the grade officers. Pillow was, doubtless, in the D grade.

The five thousand at Fort Henry thought the Federal cannot made such a dim that they would leave the dinner.

The plundering rebels in Kentucky need not think themselves invulnerable because they are steel clad.

The five thousand was a strong force, and rejoiced as a strong man to run a race."

REBEL SALAD.—Lettuce alone.

A law case, recently tried in Paris, has brought to light a bit of very Frenchy romance. A married man, the father of a family, and a rich widow, fell desperately in love, and as they could not be married, decided that the next best thing was to commit suicide. Then they had another bright idea. They would make a sort of "eternal marriage" out of it, and die "on the bridal bed of death." So Madame dressed herself in a superb marriage robe, and Monsieur had his hair curled to perfection and wore snubbed boots and broadcloth clothes. They signed a document stating, "we will at least be married in eternity, since we cannot be on earth," and then closed the room, lighted a brazier of charcoal, joined hands over it, inhaled the fumes and soon became insensible. The lady soon died, but the gentleman fell on the burning charcoal, which caused his clothes to catch fire. The neighbors smelt the odor of the burning garments, broke into the room and saved his life, but not till he was severely burned. On recovering he was tried for the murder of Madame, and on the trial these facts were elicited.

SINGING FISH.—M. de Thuron has addressed a curious communication to the Academy of Sciences on the subject of certain singing fish that inhabit the seas as well as rivers of South America. He specially mentions the Bay of Paiton, situated north of the province of Esmeraldas, in the Republic of Ecuador, where, being in a boat, it was suddenly startled by a deep human noise, which he attributed to some large insect, but which, upon inquiry, turned out to be a kind of fish called "Muso" by the people of the country. On proceeding further the sounds became so strong as to remind him of the strains of a church organ. These fish live both in salt and fresh water, since they are also met with in the river Marañe. They are not more than ten inches long; their color is white, sprinkled with blue spots, and they will consume their music for hours without minding any interruption.

A VALUABLE TREASURE.—A tree has been discovered in the gold regions about Ballarat and other dreary districts of Australia, called by local pundits eucalyptus oleosa, the transfer of which to England would be merely a botanic curiosity, but not so its recent planting in the waste and arid districts of the Sahara by the Algerian authorities. ONE OF THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERATE

RECEIVED AND SENT TO PORT LAFAYETTE.

On Saturday forenoon a force of the city police, under the direction of the government agent, John C. Miller, arrested a supposed Secessionist, with $300,000 in blanks of Confederate scrip, as he was coming out of a lithographic establishment on Lake street. The arrested party, on being taken into custody, gave his name as I. N. Hendricks, of Memphis, and denied that he was a rebel, but said he was acting according to an arrangement between government agents at Washington, where the counterfeiter ship should be taken to the South, and the prisoners knew the facts, and the prisoner was marched off to the jail.

To make the whole affair plain to our readers, it will be necessary to go back a few weeks. It seems that about three weeks since, John C. Miller, the government agent in the city, received intelligence from a lithographer in Chicago that he was counterfeiting the scrip of the Confederate States.

A SCENE AT A REVIEW.—There was a beautiful instance of fine horsemanship displayed at a late review held at Vienna, upon the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the military order of the Maria Theresa, when some thirty thousand cavalry were in line. A little child, in the front row of the spectators, becoming frightened, rushed forward just as a squadron of hussars were charging at full tilt—swooping down with maddening velocity, nay, almost on the child. Terror paralyzed alike the spectators and the mother of the child, while the lovely and amiable Empress almost fainted with horror, for she could not bear to witness such a scene. The little one was almost under the horses' feet—a another instant would have sealed his doom—when a hussar, without lessening his speed or loosening his hold, threw himself along his horse's neck, and seizing the child, placed it safely in front of his saddle, without so much as changing the pace or breaking the alignment of the least. A hoarse voice hailed with pride and joy the deed, while the voices could but sob their griefs—the one a mother's, the other that of her sympathizing and beloved Empress. A proud moment that must have been for the hussar, when his Emperor, taking the enamelled crown of merit, attached it to his breast—a proud moment alike for the sovereign and the man.—London Paper.

EMANCIPATION IN DELAWARE.—We see it stated that a bill is about to be introduced into the Legislature of Delaware to abolish slavery in that State. By this bill it is provided that slaves over the age of five years of age shall be freed within ninety days after it becomes law; all under thirty-five shall become free on reaching that age; all males born after the bill becomes law are to be slaves till they are twenty-one, and females till they are eighteen; and all slavery is to cease after January 1st, 1872. These propositions are made conditional upon the following provision:

"That Congress will at its present session engage to pay to the State of Delaware, in bonds of the United States bearing interest at the rate of per cent per annum, $90,000, to be paid on some day before the 1st day of September, 1862, to establish a fund for securing full and fair compensation to the owners of slaves who shall have been divested of their property by force of the act in question."

Delaware has, according to the census of 1860, eighteen hundred and five slaves, and the sum to be asked of Congress for their gradual emancipation amounts to five hundred dollars a head.—Nat. Intelligencer.

A number of school boys were reproved for smoking, and were asked by the teacher what they smoked for? One answered for headache, another toothache, another colic, another a bad cough—all had some excuse.

"Now, sirrah," bellowed the master to the last boy, "what disorder do you smoke for?" Alas! all the excuses were exhausted; but the interrogated urchin, putting down his pipe, after a farewell whiff, and looking up in his master's face, said, in a whining, hypocritical tone: "Sir, I smoke for corns!"

The Portsmouth (N. H.) Journal publishes a list of the old people in that city. The names of ninety men are given, whose ages range from seventy-six to ninety-five years; also the names of fifty-three women upwards of eighty years old. Several of these ladies are upwards of ninety. The editor says that in addition to the list of women published, he has the names and ages of one hundred and sixteen females between the ages of seventy-two and eighty now residing in Portsmouth."

CHEAP AS A SUBSTITUTE FOR COD LIVER OIL.—Gentlemen generally recommend, in the Bulletin de Therapeutique, cream as a substitute for cod liver oil, in cases where the latter cannot be borne on the stomach. The dose for children is four teaspoonsfuls at first, to be subsequently increased. It is to be taken undiluted, and sweetened or flavored with vanilla, which renders it more digestible. In England it is taken with a little rum.

Twelve passenger trains run now daily between the cities of Baltimore and Washington, and twice a week a car provided with beds leaves Washington, for the accommodation of sick and wounded soldiers.

A SCENE AT A REVIEW.—There was a beautiful instance of fine horsemanship displayed at a late review held at Vienna, upon the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the military order of the Maria Theresa, when some thirty thousand cavalry were in line. A little child, in the front row of the spectators, becoming frightened, rushed forward just as a squadron of hussars were charging at full tilt—swooping down with maddening velocity, nay, almost on the child. Terror paralyzed alike the spectators and the mother of the child, while the lovely and amiable Empress almost fainted with horror, for she could not bear to witness such a scene. The little one was almost under the horses' feet—a another instant would have sealed his doom—when a hussar, without lessening his speed or loosening his hold, threw himself along his horse's neck, and seizing the child, placed it safely in front of his saddle, without so much as changing the pace or breaking the alignment of the least. A hoarse voice hailed with pride and joy the deed, while the voices could but sob their griefs—the one a mother's, the other that of her sympathizing and beloved Empress. A proud moment that must have been for the hussar, when his Emperor, taking the enamelled crown of merit, attached it to his breast—a proud moment alike for the sovereign and the man.—London Paper.
